ELSTON 1984

*Elston derives its name from the village near Newark in Nottinghamshire where Elston Hall is renowned as the ancestral home of the Darwins of the noted 'Theory of Evolution.'
The nyvern symbol of the village also appears on the label.*

1984 Elston Chardonnay is the first Chardonnay made by us from a selected site planted to our requirements, and is named after the family home in England of John Edwards, who together with his wife Lynley owns the vineyard.

The wine is made from a small crop of very ripe grapes.
