ELSTON 1994

*Elston derives its name from the village near Newark in Nottinghamshire where Elston Hall is renowned as the ancestral home of the Darwins of the noted 'Theory of Evolution.'
The nyvern symbol of the village also appears on the label.*

1994 Elston Chardonnay was made from grapes that were hand harvested between the 31st March and 11th April. They were whole cluster pressed, drained, the juice barrel fermented and then aged on lees until January 1995.

1994 Elston Chardonnay has a full golden-green colour. It has an aroma of nectarines, butterscotch and pineapple, with a toasty, soft, and crisp finish.

1994 Elston Chardonnay will improve steadily in the bottle for 4-5 years from harvest.

It should be consumed lightly chilled, either on its own or with seafood and poultry, either plain or with creamy sauces.
