

Favourite Wine of 2015: Decanter Awards Judges

Bob Campbell MW, Decanter World Wine Awards Regional Chair for New Zealand

Coleraine '13

When Coleraine was first made in 1982, it was light years ahead of any New Zealand red wine produced before that date. It has since become the country's most iconic wine label. With 31 vintages under its belt, Coleraine was able to take full advantage of the 2013 vintage, Hawke's Bay's best ever. It's a wonderfully intense, powerful yet teasingly brooding blend of Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Cabernet Franc that's a delight to drink now but promises to become a revelation in years to come.
